General News

If experiments now in operation at the University of Saskatchewan's Saskatoon, to discover a wheat that is rust resistant prove successful the heavy losses sustained by the wheat growers of the province from the ravages of black stem rust this year will not be repeated.

Many anglers can relate stories of having caught large fish, but it remains for a B.C. angler to make them all step down with a fish bonspiel which he recently hurled into the ranks of some Brentford campers when he caught two fish on a single cast. This ardent sportsman, who assiduously plays forsalmon with a trolling line on Saanich inlet, received a tug on the line, and almost simultaneously another and more deliberate tug. The line was hauled in and after desperate fight, the gaping mouth of a huge cod appeared astern and the fish was promptly secured. The cod was of such a tremendous size that he aroused the suspicions of the fishermen. It was ripped open and inside was disclosed a five-ounce salmon, weighing about twelve pounds. The salmon had gulped down the bait and in turn had been gulped down by the hungry cod. Reputable eye-witnesses vouch for the story.

International Court Of Justice Promises Well

Speculation Rife as to Probable Choice of the Council and Assembly.

Geneva.—By a resolution adopted by the council of the League of Nations, that body will assume control of stipulations in the treaties with Hungary and Rumania regarding the reports of minorities in the territories which changed their sovereignty. Chief interest in the work of the council centres for the moment upon the international court of justice, which is regarded as promising better results than any other section of the league thus far. Speculation has begun as to the probable choice by the council and assembly of the eleven judges from among about one hundred names thus far submitted.

Canada has submitted the names of Sir Robert Borden and Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, for consideration by the league.

As geographical considerations will enter into the election, it is generally assumed the western hemisphere will get two, and perhaps three, judges, one Spanish-speaking from South or Central America, and one each from the United States and Canada. Great Britain is granted one for the United Kingdom and another for the colonies besides Canada.

France will receive one, the Scandinavian countries one, the Slav countries one, and the German-speaking states one, while provision must also be made for the Asiatic states, China, Japan and Siam each having nominated two candidates.

The British candidates are Lord Phillimore, Baron Phillimore, and Sir Henry Eric Richards. South Africa and India also have named candidates.

Getting After Drug Smugglers

Seaplanes Found to be Invaluable in Watching for Offenders.

Ottawa.—Air patrols have been instrumental in frustrating to a large extent at least, the efforts of smugglers to land huge quantities of drugs illegally on the Pacific Coast, according to reports reaching Air Board officials from the customs department at Vancouver, where seaplanes have been placed at the disposal of the customs officials in their fight against the dope smugglers.

In a recent patrol, a longshoreman was arrested while trying to smuggle ashore $1,500 worth of opium from one of the vessels travelling between Canada and the Orient. The circumvention of the drug smugglers is a game which keeps the customs officials on the watch, as new landing places are tried almost for every shipment and it has been found that the seaplane is the only method of transportation speedy enough to enable the customs department to meet the situation.

War Officially

Ended August 31st

Order-in-Council Was Approved By King George.

London.—The King held a Privy Council at Buckingham Palace for the disposal of many matters of business affecting various Government departments.

His Majesty approved an Order-in-Council with respect to the date at which the European war is officially ended. This order provided for the official termination of the war at midnight on August 31, and to be of general application except in regard to the Ottoman Empire.

This matter, although formal, is of very considerable importance, because many matters of national interest are dependent upon the date at which the war is declared to be at an end.

Population of Scotland Increases.

London.—The preliminary report of the Scottish census just issued shows that the population of Scotland has increased considerably since the last census was taken in 1911. The population is given as 4,882,000, including 2,348,000 males and 2,534,000 females, the gross total representing an increase of 121,000 over 1911.

Want Exchange on Official Basis.

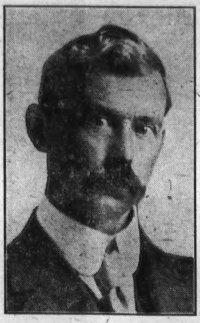

London.—The British Board of Education are advocating that the exchange of teachers between the various parts of the Empire should be established on regular official basis. Hitherto New Zealand is the only Dominion where Government has given the project direct official support.

Compliments Lloyd George.

London.—Before leaving Edinburgh for Blairhall, Premier Lloyd George was complimented by a reporter on the fine example he had given the citizens by attending church twice on Sunday.

Indian Disturbances Subsiding

London.—A Reuter cable from Simla, India, reports that the Mughal disturbances in those districts are subsiding and a favorable turn to the situation is expected shortly. Public-spirited Hindu Christian civilians are taking a hand by beating off the rebels as they appear. This is due to the belief, which is confirmed by local newspapers, that the rising is directed, not merely against the Government, but against all non-Moslems.

Loans For Stock Raisers

Bank to Aid Cattlemen Over Times of Low Prices.

Ottawa.—Canadian cattle raisers will be carried over the period of abnormally low prices by advances from the banks secured by their stock. This announcement was made by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture.

By arrangement between the Government and the Canadian Bankers' Association, any cattle raiser who asks for a loan and has security in cattle, will be given an advance to obtain fodder. Cattle raisers will thus be enabled to carry their stock instead of getting rid of it at sacrifice prices.

Dr. Tolmie stated that the banks will loan all that the cattle are worth, and that every effort will be made to carry the raisers through. Special consideration will be given to the period of the loans in order to assist the cattleman to weather the storm.

It is understood that there is no specific limit placed on the total amount which the banks may advance under the arrangement with the Government.

Printers Resort to Prayer.

Toronto.—Printers of Local 91, International Typographical Union, who have been on strike nearly three months for the 44-hour week, offered up prayers in the labor temple for the success of their fight, according to the Toronto Globe, which adds: "It was the first time a trade union turned to prayer in its fight with employers, and it is doubtful if such a scene was ever witnessed in the labor temple before."

Pay Insurance For Auto Fatalities.

New York.—An estimate of $4,500,000 was paid by life insurance companies of the continent in death claims from automobile fatalities during 1920, is published by the Insurance Press. The figures are quoted to show that during the year the automobile caused 12,000 fatalities and a million other injuries.

Italian Ship In Serious Condition.

Naples.—The situation arising from the retention of the steamship Pocahontas in port here since June 8, because of failure to pay for repairs, has become serious because the ship has aboard only five days' rations for its 28 passengers and 253 members of the crew.

Fire Destroys B.C. Plant.

Nanaimo, B.C.—Fire completely destroyed the plant of the Nanaimo Fish, Meal and Oil Refining Company causing a loss estimated at nearly $50,000 on which there was $20,000 insurance.

Steamboating On Saskatchewan River In The Late Seventies

By O-G-E MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyright)

He was to go in his cabin and remain there, hand the boat over to me, with authority. Failing him doing this, I would return and report. He at once marched me round to the mate and steward and gave orders to this effect and disappeared. I walked on shore very leisurely and busied myself shaking hands with the malcontents. I told them the latest news and generally had a good gossip. Finally I said: "Boys, it is dry talking and I want a lunch." So I yelled: "Steward," at the top of my voice. Then to him I said: "You see my friends here, we are hungry, get your waiters busy and serve us up a first-class lunch and do it quick!" This was done at once and a merry scene followed. Jokes were made against the Knives (Yankies), and broad witticisms of all kinds flew from mouth to mouth. One huge Indian called "Shake-mace" (Mosquito) was the strongest man on board, and evidently a ringleader in the strike. We had all our pipes, when I issued a challenge to Shake-mace. We would divide the men, tossing up for first choice, and I bet him two sacks of flour to one that my gang could outwork him in a given space of time. The challenge was accepted, and though night had come, it made no difference, as there were plenty of stars. Never was freight unloaded and the boat wooded in quicker time. As all the dialogue had been carried on in Cree it was quite a mystery to the officers of the steamer, but I passed the buck to the chief engineer to start at once. I then visited the old man and advised him to keep out of the way as much as possible until the men's anger had cooled down. So away they went, I returning to the Rapids at a much more leisurely gait than when we came up.

"Poor old Captain W—, an able steamboat man, but when trouble of any kind arose he became wild with excitement and his language was unwelcome." The Northcoast made the banks of the Saskatchewan all right, but there was not water enough to ascend the Cole's Falls, so the freight was unloaded there and hauled up to Prince Albert, a distance of about 50 miles.

A Runaway Car at Grand Rapids, Portage

Three and a half miles of steel rails crossed the Portage at the height of land was about midway, and a down grade from there both ways. Small flat cars carrying from three to four tons, were used, and miles were hauled up to the start of the down grade, the mule's single tree was unhooked, the car ran by its own weight, and the mule trotted behind, the driver regulating the speed by a chain brake. The brake chains were old and in poor shape, though new ones had been ordered but never supplied. Sitting at dinner one day at the fine residence at the upper end of the Portage, with a number of passengers waiting for a steamer up the river, a thundering noise was heard. I dashed out, and there, round the bend, came a heavily loaded car at a furious speed. In charge was a very black French half-breed, with his hair flying in the wind, twisting the brake with all his might. But the chain had broken, so his efforts were fruitless. There was a neat gravel walk from the track right up to our front door, and as poor Bearde came to this and noted the big warehouse doors, were shut behind, he gave a wild glance round, and, noting me, jumped the car and slid right up the gravel walk, his feet hitting the step hard. He was half unconscious with the excitement and shock, and on examination I found his legs and stern full of gravel pellets, which, as there was no resident doctor, I extracted with a pocket knife, using a log for an operating table.

The car hit some loose freight on the track and dashed through the doors of the warehouse. This fortunately was piled up with flour at that end, so this acted as a buffer and the damage was not extensive. On reporting the matter, new chains were promptly supplied, so there was some good came out of the accident. Mr. Mule had quietly trotted back to his stable at the lower end.

Retribution

It was rather righteous retribution on this man, as some time before this when he had a lot of loose freight piled under tarpaulin at the lower end of the Portage, I caught him with both hands down to the elbows in a big firkin of butter. The time was about midnight, and his intention evidently was to fill the butter out and fill up the firkin with rubbish, so that it would not check short. I well remember it was fitting moonlight and the expressions on his face would have made a good picture. One was murderous, the other, and so on. Firkin and all, I marched him round to a leather seep where we slept, woke up the men, had his hands tied behind his back, and set a guard over him until morning. He kept begging and praying for silence and forgiveness. I phoned the chief (for one of our clever mechanics had made a telephone which actually worked, with empty cans and wire), to come over, which he did in the morning. We gave the culprit a summary trial; deferred sentence was the verdict, and a careful watch was to be kept on him throughout the summer.

While between his groans I was extracting the gravel and then using a strong mixture of carbolic acid, which no doubt smarted considerably. I reminded him of his fall from hopey and said no doubt the accident happened to him as a special punishment for his crime. For some time after this he kept his face, much to the amusement of his crew, to the amusement of his crew.

Like the cart transport, steamboating on the Saskatchewan had its day, and was gradually replaced by rail, the Canadian Pacific railway traversing the prairies and the Qu'Appelle and Long Lake running up to Prince Albert.

The Hudson's Bay Company, with their far-seeing vision, had sold out part of their interests in 1883 to a transportation company, retaining, however, the right of first shipments over all comers.

Consider Freight Rates Reduction

Ottawa.—Reductions in freight rates were under consideration at a private conference between the Board of Railway Commissioners and representatives of the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian National Railways. Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, has expressed the view that something must be done to meet the present situation and is hopeful that some immediate action will be taken as a result of the conference. In support of a reduction in freight rates, the view is taken that falling wages and cheaper materials have reduced operating costs.

Every dollar spent in your home town is a boost for the community.

Conference Interests China

China's Participation in Conference On Disarmament to Be Held in Washington.

Peking.—Interest in China's participation in the conference on disarmament and Far Eastern questions to be held in Washington, is shown by the formation of a number of associations pledged to support this country's cause at the conference. A large number of prominent Chinese have been enrolled in these organizations since the Peking Government accepted President Harding's invitation to send a delegation to the United States capital. The constitutional party of Chekiang Province has issued a call to other provinces to send representatives to Shanghai for a discussion of the Washington conference.

The Spirit Of The British Nation That Overcomes All Obstacles

The following gives a few extracts from an article written from London by W. C. Barron, and published in "Barron's" New York, under date of the 11th July, entitled "European Unsettlements".

Two years ago I declared that England was the great war sufferer, but that her people did not know it. I thought I saw pretty clearly what the demoralization in her coal mining forces and her future shipping profits and her transportation settlements would do to her national income. Now England is awake to the situation, but not fully so.

The sentiment of the people may be expressed thus as I quote from one returned from the occupations area in Germany: "We have won the war, and the first thing to find out is how much Germany can and will pay. If she can pay and won't, we'll make her. We will drive right into Berlin with the French and take her coal fields and her industries and will make her know where she stands and what she has got to do. But if she cannot pay, we'll buckle down to it and pay up ourselves as best we can. We have no intention of repudiating any of our debts, including our indebtedness to the United States. We are going to see everything paid."

Few people are in position to take the financial latitude and longitude of this little isle.

The government people had hopes this spring that the deficit would not exceed £100,000,000. Present prospects are that it will far exceed that for this fiscal year. It should be remembered, however, that every warring nation consumes more than it earns and that war expenditure cannot be checked immediately after the close of the war.

This is not so serious a matter when only two or three nations are at war. Other nations have the resources and goods and can extend credits. The serious problem before the world today is to find the credit in the after-war reconstruction period. That the English people refuse always to recognize defeat, and they have always confidence in their national leadership, and in their "muddling through."

If one leader or set of leaders fail, they know that others must come forward. As a nation the English people today stand confident and defiant. They won; they are English; and they will play. That is their whole sentiment.

Their trust is in their race, their blood, their bulwarks of empire, and above all, they have a supreme faith in an ever-abiding and over-ruling Providence. They did right by themselves, their neighbors and their allies during the war. They will even see justice done today to the living and honest working people of Germany. They will continue to do their duty day by day, but they will not worry. They have defied the lightning of war, and they will face the lightning of finance as they have to. They will borrow and they will pay; but they will not, in advance, borrow any trouble.

Yet the Man Moved Up.

"Will the gentleman please move forward a little?" called out the polite conductor of the trolley car as a dozen more passengers tried to scramble in.

"I won't!" growled one hard-faced man who clung to a strap near the door.

"Oh, I didn't ask you," said the conductor.—Youth's Companion.

"Now, friends and comrades," said the street corner politician, after a long speech made in the pouring rain, "any questions?"

"Yes," piped all that remained of his audience, an urchin. "Can I have the box you're standing on to make a go-cart with?"—The Evening News (London).

Facts About Old London

Most Wonderful City Covers Area of 673 Miles.

Remarkable facts and figures revealing the immensity of London and the ramifications of its administration are given in the "Municipal Year Book" for 1921-22. There are really several Londons—all of them equally wonderful.

There is London, the administrative county (117 square miles) whose population (1911) was 4,522,961. Then there is the Greater London of the police area. This goes as far as to Epsom. It contains 520 square miles and a population of 7,252,963.

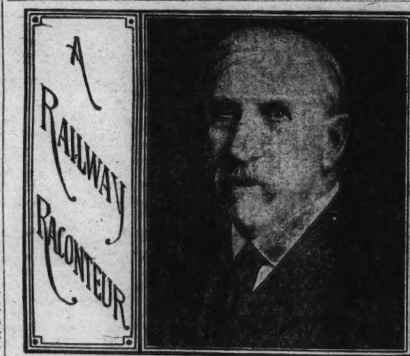

There is also the water London extending over an area of 538 square miles, a constituency represented by 155 members of Parliament.

London the City, is a mere 673 acres. When the City sleeps it has a population of 14,447 or thereabouts but when the City is awake its noon-day inhabitants total 360,000 plus a million entering within the boundaries every day.

An eminent scientist has estimated that the average man's eyelids open and shut 4,000,000 times during the year.

At a safe distance we do not hesitate to say that the prize fighters are no better than they should be.

In the east, as a general rule, Turks wear yellow slippers, Armenians red, and Jews blue.

George H. Ham

The birthdays of Mr. George H. Ham, of the C.P.R., have for many years past been observed by some function or other. If it was not a home-like dinner with a score or so of close friends, or a public banquet or a presentation, or an operation in a hospital, or a trip on a railway train, it was something else. This year a radical departure is being made from the ordinary August 23rd proceedings with the Musson Book Company of Toronto as sponsors for the innovation. On that day, this publishing company issued "Reminiscences of a 'Raconteur,' the author of which is Mr. Ham. In the articles which originally appeared in Macleod's Magazine, the author recalls incidents of his busy and by no means monotonous life from the infantile age of three down to the present day. The allotted three-score and ten of man is most interestingly covered. From his early boyhood days, he recounts events which include the Fenian Raids and the second Riel Rebellion, of chasing and being chased by wild Indians, of the bustling early days of Winnipeg and the West, of the Governor-General's has met, of the intertid officers of the Hudson's Bay Company, of the Mormons with whom he mingled accompanied by the Canadian Women's Press Club, of which he is the only male member, and he writes on tearfully of banquets and banquets. He delves into the myster-

The Dover Patrol

Gallant Company Kept the Postern Gate Day and Night.

The Prince of Wales unveiled the Dover Patrol Memorial at Leather-cote's Point, four miles east of Dover, and in one of those simple and yet moving speeches of which he possesses the secret he said he remembered what we owed to the Dover Patrol. Truly, to honor Cromwell's ringing words, they were a gallant company. The Grand Fleet was Britain's main guard. The men of the Dover Patrol kept the Postern Gate by night and day, in tempest and in calm. It may not be technically exact to say that they never lost touch with the enemy, but if they did it was only by restraint of the sea and weather such as no human power could control. May the spirit that inspired them remain with us as long as the granite of the columns that record their deeds and the story of their French comrades! The French Memorial Obelisk, the exact fellow of the English, is on the opposite side of the Channel. In New York yet another "kindred and coeval" obelisk has been dedicated to the Dover Patrol in memory of Americans who took part in that great and noble adventure. The salt waters that flow between divide only to join those who have a common heritage in the great deeds of the Dover Patrol.—London Spectator.

Futility Of Physical Forces To Secure The Peace Of The World

For Arctic Discovery

Amundsen Will Employ Two Airplanes and Will Take Wireless Equipment.

For the first time land machines will be employed in the Arctic regions next year when Captain Roald Amundsen embarks upon his fourth expedition to reach the extreme northern point on the globe. Capt. Amundsen has announced that he will make an effort to realize his theory that by freezing into ice in the proper currents he may drift into "the vicinity of the Pole in his ship, the 'Maud.' He explained that his last attempt to reach the Pole had been frustrated through broken propellers. On the next occasion, however, he would be properly equipped in that direction. Additional equipment would be two airplanes and a complete wireless apparatus. The airplanes would be used extensively, he said, especially for necessary scouting work which would be impossible on foot or from the vessel. In this way he hoped to acquire a very wide knowledge of the entire Arctic territory through which he will pass and to make valuable contributions to civilization on his return. The machines will have sleds instead of wheels.

Old Roman Road Discovered

Composed of Flints and Was in Good Repair.

Discovery has been made in England of another old Roman road hitherto unknown. Workmen who were digging manholes on the Alton road where the latter joins the roads to Bentley and Bordon, near Farnham, Surrey, unearthed five feet below the surface, part of what appears to be an old Roman road that ran from London to Manchester. The road was in an excellent state of preservation, the surface layer being a foot in thickness and composed of flints. In order to penetrate the surface the workmen had to use drills and steel wedges. Research has demonstrated that not only the Romans used bituminous materials, including asphalt, but the ancient Sumerians, Persians, Babylonians, Greeks and Egyptians as well. The road discovered in England, according to engineers, was capable of carrying traffic heavier than any to which modern roads are now put.

His Presence Not Desired.

Much feeling has been manifested at Oxford by reason of the impudence with which German officers who made themselves obnoxious to the townspeople during the occupation have now turned up to enjoy the pleasures of this resort and there have been many unpleasant scenes, one rather arrogant German coming in for such unwelcome attention that he was requested by the authorities to leave the town within three hours.

African Spider is a Paper Maker.

The original papermaker is the paper spider of the dense woods in the interior of Africa, that large spider building its home from fine paper of its own making, when it selects a smooth surface about two inches square, covering it with fine threads that are papery, placing its fifty eggs beneath, then spinning a thin border filled pasties it down tight until the eggs hatch in three weeks.

Terrible as have been the sufferings of the great war and irreparable its losses, the price will have proved too great if through this unspeakable tragedy the nations may discover a new principle of international fellowship and a higher way of life. The world is being taught, as never before, in all its history, the futility of material incentives and the impotence of physical forces to secure peace and prosperity says the Presbyterian Witness. It is significant that a growing number of the world's statesmen and leaders are becoming impressed with this truth and are assuming the role of prophets and preachers of a new evangel. Among the most recent of these utterances are addresses by General Jan Christian Smuts and Vice-President Coolidge. Speaking recently before the Supreme Council in England, General Smuts said:

"I ask myself what will be the character of that history—will it be along the old lines, will it be the old spirit of national and imperial domination which has been the undoing of Europe, or shall we have learned our lesson, shall we have purged our souls in the fires through which we have passed? Will it be a future of peaceful co-operation, of friendly co-ordination of all the vast interests at stake? Shall we act in continuous friendly consultation, in the true spirit of a society of nations, or will there once more be a repetition of rival groups, of exclusive alliances, and finally of a terrible catastrophe more fatal than the one we have passed through? That, to my mind, is the alternative that is the parting of the ways at which we have arrived."

Referring to the Peace Treaty, General Smuts said:

"There is one chapter in that treaty which, to my mind, should be specially sacred to the British Empire. That is the first chapter of the League of Nations. The Covenant may be faulty, it may need amendment in order to make it more workable and more generally acceptable, but let us never forget that the Covenant embodies the most deeply felt longings of the human race for a better life. There more than anywhere else do we find serious effort made to translate into practically reality the great ideals that actuated us during the war—ideals for which millions of our best gave their lives, a method of understanding instead of the violence of force. The operation of consultation and conferences in all great difficulties, which we have found so fruitful in our empire system, is the method which the League attempts to apply to the affairs of the world. Let us in the British Empire back it for all it is worth. It may well prove a way out of the present moment, it may become the foundation of a new international system which will render armaments unnecessary and give the world at large the blessings which we enjoy in our lesser league of nations in the empire."

Canadian Bacon Exports.

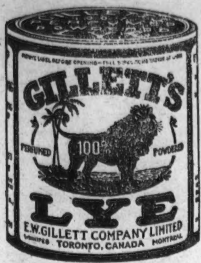

The value of bacon exports from Canada during 1920 was $39,000,000. An active campaign is being conducted by the Federal Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the provincial departments to increase, and incidentally to maintain the quality of Canadian bacon, which years ago procured for it a steady market in Britain.

Production of Canadian Apples.

According to Dominion Bureau of Statistics the commercial production of apples in Canada during 1920 was 3,408,380 barrels valued at $29,840,749 compared with 3,334,000 barrels to the value of $24,396,210 in 1919, representing for 1920 an increase of 69,680 barrels in production and of $5,452,939 in value.

Do you discriminate at the dining table—or are you thoughtless?

In thousands of homes, a "line" is drawn at the breakfast table. Tea or coffee is served for "grown-ups" and Postum for children. But some parents do not discriminate. Tannin and caffeine, the injurious contents of tea and coffee, seriously retard the development of the delicate nerve tissues in children.

Consequently, instead of rich, satisfying Postum, children are over-stimulated by the drugs in tea and coffee; and so may grow up irritable and nervous. Any doctor can tell you that this is a great evil and should be corrected.

Although some parents feel a certain justification for the personal indulgence in tea or coffee, yet the harm to them may be equally serious. It may take a little while longer for the drugs in tea and coffee to affect

A Detector Of Carelessness

Machine Registers Bumps and Knocks Given to Freight in Transit.

Rough handling of freight in railway yards or in transit gives rise to many claims by shippers. In some districts this cause is reckoned as producing from 25 to 30 per cent. of all claims for damages. Railroad managers have wrestled with the problem, which is difficult because it is so hard to trace the carelessness to any one train crew.

Now, however, an instrument has been devised to detect the time and place of damage done to moving freight. It is called an "impact register," and has been made the subject of exhaustive tests by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. The machine is constructed on the principle of the seismograph, and when placed in a box car will record the time of each shock and also the intensity. By this means the management is able to prove exactly when and where, for example, the reckless switching of freight cars was done.

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask., writes:—"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weeks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea, or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it." Price 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Gluten Flour

Its Uses and Characteristics Explained in Government Bulletin.

Nearly all of the so-called gluten flours offered to the public are not made from gluten. Such is the frank statement made by Dr. C. E. Saunders, the Dominion Cereals and Baking Bulletin entitled "Wheat, Flour and Bread," recently issued by the Experimental Farms Branch at Ottawa. The named used, says Dr. Saunders, is entirely misleading, as these flours often contain a high percentage of starch and are quite unsuitable for diabetic patients. As a rule the gluten flours offered for sale are practically identical with the whole wheat and Graham flours. Genuine gluten flour, which is made by washing the starch out of wheat flour and then drying and grinding, is extremely expensive. Gluten bread has no resemblance to ordinary bread and as a substitute for such is an impossibility. Rather less than 50 per cent. of genuine gluten flour can be mixed with ordinary flour, and bread of medium quality be made. Gluten flour can also be used in the production of pancakes, biscuits and other products provided it is mixed with ordinary flour, fine shorts or ground nuts, together with eggs, milk, baking powder, etc. There is, however, no possibility of producing any form of palatable bread, biscuit or cake with a very large proportion of pure gluten flour. Dr. Saunders suggests that physicians would be well advised to take cognizance of these facts and not to expect their patients to purchase what is unobtainable or to eat what is inedible. The bulletin, it might be remarked, goes thoroughly into its subject, treating it in all its phases.

Embroidery Adorns A Navy Serge Coat

By Marie Belmont.

The loose-sleeved coat is an admirable addition to the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman. This model is cut from a very fine piece of navy blue serge. It shows the dropped armhole which insures comfort as well as preventing the crushing of the flimsy frock. The bell-shaped sleeves are finished with a deep stretch of embroidery which reveals both Copenhagen and tan silk. The lower part of the wrap is similarly adorned. Oblong bone buttons make a distinctive fastening, while the high collar emphasizes a new style note for Fall. The felt hat shows a feather trimming.

FOR STIFF NECK AND SORE THROAT

Immediate relief comes from rubbing Nerviline over the chest and lower part of the neck. Rub in deeply—lots of rubbing helps. Nerviline reaches the congested parts at once, relieves tightness, takes out the soreness. A bottle of Nerviline in the home relieves a hundred ills, internal and external. Used for nearly half a century as a general household remedy. Large bottles 50c at all dealers.

Bumper Apple Crop.

The most recent reports received by the Provincial Department of Agriculture from the fruit districts of British Columbia state that the apple crop will be 100 per cent. greater this year than last year. The crop will require, it is estimated, 5,000 freight cars to take care of the exports.

What One of the Best Known Travellers in Canada Says

"Now I am going to give you an unsolicited testimonial, as they say in the patent medicine advertising. Heretofore I have had a profound contempt for patent medicines, particularly so-called liniments. Perhaps this is due to the reason that I have been blessed with a sturdy constitution, and have never been ill a day in my life. One day last fall after a hard day's tramp in the bush of Montreal, I developed a severe pain in my leg and, of course, like a man who has never had anything wrong with him physically, I complained rather hysterically. The good little wife says: 'I will rub them with some liniment I have.' 'Go ahead,' I said, 'just to humor her.' She rubbed the leg with a bottle of Minard's Liniment, and gets her leg all right in the time of a few minutes after, and you can tell the world I said so." (Signed) FRANK E. JOHNS, Montreal.

Miss Ella Johnson Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"My trouble began as small pimples and in a few months they got worse and my forehead was just a mass of large pimples. They were large and red and caused me to scratch, and I was disgusted for the time. It made me embarrassed when out in company. I tried various treatments but it was of no help. I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent for a free sample. After using them I bought more, and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment for about a month I was completely healed." A full train of Exhibits will be shown in Crossfield, free, date advertised later. Seats for the production at the theatre will be on sale, the proceeds being turned over to the maimed, crippled and blinded heroes of France; all who attend are assured of a pleasant, profitable and enjoyable day.

A real live bear was on the hands of the New York Stock exchange, that playground of "bulls" and "bears," the other day. A baby brin was captured in the entrance to the Exchange by a guard. The bear, attached to a chain, was led by a young man who arrived in a limousine. The man dropped the chain and fled when the guard made a lung at him. Exchange officials believe the bear was intended as a present for a member who recently lost his bear-like proclivities after investing heavily in stocks which have since gone down.

A deserted automobile, except for a woman's hat, a bicycle, and a walking stick, that had been left in the middle of the road of the Tournet Pass, in France, baffled the police for several weeks. The car was seen there by several tourists on different days and every body reported it to the police who began searching for the missing passengers. The mystery was the great topic of conversation among the inhabitants of the district until it was learned that the passengers went picnicking almost daily and would leave the car in the middle of the road while they were lunching in the woods.
